Journey Across Time, Early Ages, is an all new middle school world history program organized chronologically from the first humans and ancient civilizations to the American Revolution. Co-authored by National Geographic and Jackson Spielvogel, Journey Across Time's engaging narrative and outstanding visuals transports students back in time. As Co-Author, National Geographic Society ensures that students understand the influence of geography on historical events. Together the authors take students on a Journey Across Time. It is a standards-based program with important geography skills embedded in every lesson. The story of history unfolds with beautiful maps, custom artwork, artifacts, visuals, and compelling narrative to transport students to the civilizations that came before and to make connections to today. A goal of the program is to address teachers concerns about students ability to read and comprehend informational text and to help meet the mandates of No Child Left Behind. These concerns are addressed in Reading Social Studies skills embedded in every chapter to improve reading skills and comprehension. Students learn and practice the skills they need to become independent learners. Foldables, Main Ideas, Reading Focus, and Reading Checks assist students to become independent readers. The engaging timelines, maps, and graphics provide the visual appeal to keep students attention focused and aid in comprehension skills. The reading support in the student text and teacher edition make reading in the content area skill easy to incorporate. The Standardized Test Practice, Skills Handbook, Geography Handbook, Reading Handbook, Primary Source and Documents Library prepare students for high stakes tests. Culminating Activities evaluate student understanding. Additional support for independent learning can be found at the book s web site jat.glencoe.com . Students access a collection of online study tools and activities to enhance their study of world history. New videos, software, and other media provide additional opportunities for students to learn about the world. Journey Across Time addresses the needs of each student to understand the past and make connection to the world today. Journey Across Time Early Ages is available in a full volume and also as Course 1 (7000 B.C.-800 A.D.) and Course 2 (500 A.D.-1750 A.D.).

Incorporate classroom-tested reading strategies that give your students the tools they need to become independent learners with this middle school world history program—the perfect combination of story and standards.

Westward ho! If you travel across certain parts of the United States, you can still see wagon wheel ruts where people crossed the west in search of more opportunity and better lives more than 200 years ago! The Oregon Trail: The Journey Across the Country from Lewis and Clark to the Transcontinental Railroad offers readers ages 9 to 12 a fascinating look at the explorers and settlers who traveled this route during the westward expansion of the United States. When America received its independence in 1776, the new country was made up of 13 colonies that became the United States of America. European immigrants continued to arrive in the new country, eager to make new lives for themselves and their families. By 1803, there were 17 states and a need for even more space. The United States doubled its land area with the Louisiana Purchase in 1803. President Thomas Jefferson commissioned the Corps of Discovery to explore and map a territory that had only been seen by fur trappers and the Native Americans who lived there. The expedition into the American west, more popularly known as the Lewis and Clark expedition, left from Independence, Missouri for more than two years of exploration that produced a route for American settlers to take. The route was the Oregon Trail, also known as the Oregon and California Trail. In The Oregon Trail: The Journey Across the Country from Lewis and Clark to the Transcontinental Railroad, readers ages 9 to 12 can delve into the explorations of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark and other explorers. They can learn about the more than half a million people who followed during the nineteenth century. What challenges did these pioneers face on the 2,170-mile journey? How were Native American tribes and nations affected by this mass migration? Primary sources allow readers to feel like a part of the Oregon Trail experience while biographical sidebars will introduce the compelling people who were part of this time in U.S. history. Investigative, hands-on projects and critical thinking activities such as writing a treaty and researching artistic impressions of the Oregon Trail invite readers to further their understanding of life on the trail, early towns and forts, and the Transcontinental Railroad that followed the wagons into new lands and territories that would eventually become states.

NATIONAL BESTSELLER • A riveting, adrenaline-fueled tour of a vast, lawless, and rampantly criminal world that few have ever seen: the high seas. There are few remaining frontiers on our planet. But perhaps the wildest, and least understood, are the world's oceans: too big to police, and under no clear international authority, these immense regions of treacherous water play host to rampant criminality and exploitation. Traffickers and smugglers, pirates and mercenaries, wreck thieves and repo men, vigilante conservationists and elusive poachers, seabound abortion providers, clandestine oil-dumpers, shackled slaves and cast-adrift stowaways—drawing on five years of perilous and intrepid reporting, often hundreds of miles from shore, Ian Urbina introduces us to the inhabitants of this hidden world. Through their stories of astonishing courage and brutality, survival and tragedy, he uncovers a globe-spanning network of crime and exploitation that emanates from the fishing, oil, and shipping industries, and on which the world's economies rely. Both a gripping adventure story and a stunning expos é , this unique work of reportage brings fully into view for the first time the disturbing reality of a floating world that connects us all, a place where anyone can do anything because no one is watching.
